

Five Things Your Teeth and Gums Are Telling You About Your Overall Health

Deanna deBara
martha stewart
Martha Stewart Living December 11, 2019

They say you can tell a lot about a person by their smile—and that's especially true when it comes to understanding our health on a deeper level. "The health of your teeth and gums can give valuable insight into your overall health," says Dr. Samuel B. Low, D.D.S., M.S., M.Ed. Chief Dental Officer of BIOLASE. "If you are doing everything correctly with your oral health, including frequent dental visits and proper oral hygiene, and are still having issues with your teeth and gums, this is an indication there is something else going on."

SanneBerg / Getty Images

"Overall, there is a lot going on in the mouth that can affect the body and there is a lot going on in the body that can affect what is going on in the mouth. If any of [the following] symptoms are present, it is important to see an oral health professional who can determine if they are indicative of a larger issue," continues Low. But how, exactly, are your teeth and gums connected to your system as a whole? Ahead, the symptoms to watch out for, including what those symptoms could actually mean beyond the context of your mouth.

Related: Dentists Say These Are the 10 Worst Foods for Your Teeth

Bleeding Gums

If you experience bleeding around the gum line when you brush or floss, consider it your mouth's way of telling you to pay attention—and to take better care of your oral hygiene. "Bleeding gums can be a sign of gingivitis or periodontal disease," says Dr. Jason Doublestein of 44 West Dental Professionals in Grandville, Michigan. "Periodontal has been shown to be connected to adverse health conditions such as heart disease, diabetes, and stroke."

Receding Gums

Receding gums are another red flag that you're dealing with periodontal disease. "If your gums begin pulling back from your teeth, you may notice that your teeth look elongated or you may notice increased tooth sensitivity," says Dr. Emilia Taneva, DDS, MS, a Chicago-based orthodontist and founder of Bubbly Moments. "This is a symptom of periodontal disease and is often caused by a buildup of hardened plaque."

White Tissue and Inflammation at the Gum Line

While signs of oral cancer are usually more prominent in other areas of the mouth, the disease can also be spotted along the gumline. "Unhealthy gums also are indicative of oral cancer. The 'hot spots' for oral cancer are on the underside of the tongue and floor of the mouth but can be present on any of the oral tissues—including the gums," says Dr. Doublestein. "The most common appearance for oral cancer is white-ish tissue with a red inflamed ring around it."

Tooth and Gum Sensitivity

Increased tooth and gum sensitivity can have a variety of causes, but if you've noticed increased sensitivity partnered with a lower quality of sleep, it's time to pay attention. "One cause [of tooth and gum sensitivity] can be nighttime clenching and/or grinding," says Dr. Doublestein. "Clenching and grinding can cause an array of issues such as tooth wear, sensitive teeth, and painful jaw muscles and joints." The potential health risks go beyond just a painful jaw and sensitive teeth. "There is also a correlation between nighttime grinding and sleep apnea, which is a major health concern, having effects on a number of bodily systems as a result of lack of oxygen and poor sleep," Dr. Doublestein adds.

What to Read Next

One Million Moms group calls for Hallmark channel boycott after it airs commercial with lesbian kiss
Yahoo Lifestyle

This Sale on Denim Is Going Fast!

Nordstrom Rack Ad

A Source Just Revealed How Justin Timberlake's Wife Really Feels About His PDA Scandal

Country Living

Two Women Landed in the ER After Using a Vacuum to End Their Periods, According to a Nurse's Scary Viral Tweet

Meredith Videos

Ryan Reynolds Joked That He and Blake Lively Named Their Third Daughter Using Only Silent Letters

Cosmopolitan

Pale Gums

Healthy gums should be a vibrant shade of pink. If they have more of a pale (or even white) appearance, it could be a sign that there's something more serious going on elsewhere in the body. "If your gums seem to lose their pink color and appear pale, it may be a sign of anemia," says Dr. Taneva. "This blood disorder occurs when your red blood cell count is low. You may also be experiencing fatigue and dizziness."

Start the conversation

Share your reaction

GIF

Guidelines Post

Lifestyle Rachel Grumman Bender

This is the age people find the most meaning in their lives, study shows

A new study, looking at whether people had found or were searching for meaning in their lives, revealed that...

20

Ad Nordstrom Rack

This Sale on Denim Is Going Fast!

Sale ends in 04d 04:46:39

Shop now for your favorite denim while supplies last!

Lifestyle Izabella Zaydenberg

Slip this deal on for size: Ugg and Toms slippers are up to 63 percent o...

Ugg slippers for just $45? Toms for just $30? Count us in!

1

Lifestyle Beth Greenfield

Is 'Veganuary' the new dry January? Everything you need to know about...

"Choose compassion, take the pledge," urges the U.S. website of the nonprofit campaign, which asks people to...

9

Lifestyle Kerry Justich

Meghan McCain is 'praying for all women' struggling with motherhood

Meghan McCain is reflecting on her "struggles with motherhood" before heading into the new year, after...

3

Ad Spirited Bliss

Rare Photos Of Bonnie And Clyde Finally Released

The part of Bonnie and Clyde's story that the books don't cover.

Lifestyle Nicole Storza

Whoa! $190 for a stunning 50-inch TV? It's a no brainer

At $210 off, this 50-inch TV is an absolute steal.

80

Wellness INSIDER

'988' could soon be the '911' of suicide prevention in the US, making it easie...

Suicide rates are skyrocketing in the US. While there's already a suicide prevention 1-800 number, proponents s...

2

Lifestyle Summer Cartwright

A sale to bark about: BarkBox memory foam doggy beds are up to 40 perce...

Your pup will finally love his own bed (almost) as much as he loves yours. On sale at Amazon today only!

1

Ad IcePop

Town In Illinois May Be The Wealthiest In The US

The Most Wealthy Cities Are Not as Obvious as You Might Think - Here Are the Richest Towns in The US

Beauty People

Lady Gaga Just Dropped Sparkly, Holiday-Perfect Makeup on Amazon,...

Lady Gaga Haus Beauty Makeup

54

Lifestyle Devon Kelley

Hurry: Amazing toys are more than 60 percent off at Walmart—today only!

1

select Graco baby gear

SHOP NOW

Major League Baseball Players Can Finally Smoke Weed Without Worrying

Fatherly

Pure Bred Lab's Odd Litter Leaves Owners In Awe

Like Swiftly Ad

Kendall Jenner's Impression of Kylie Jenner Is Ruthless and Hilarious

Harper's Bazaar

GRACO

Save up to 30% on select Graco baby gear

SHOP NOW

Um, Is That a Praying Mantis Egg Sac Hanging Off Your Christmas Tree?

House Beautiful

Kaia Gerber went for the scissors again with a much shorter bob cut

Hello Giggles